- 12. Submission Text: I support the individual's right to choose what they consume and the level of processing that is done to their food. I find it amazing that we are expected to swallow coloured, flavoured, irradiated, genetically modified and pesticide treated food but can not buy the fresh unadulterated product from the farm gate. I understand elderly, pregnant or immunosuppressed may need to buy pastuerised milk but those of us who want our food the way nature intended should have the right to do so. Expectant mothers shouldn't drink alcohol, however that doesn't make it illegal for the rest of the population to procure alcohol if we wish. It concerns me greatly that I currently do not have the right to purchase fresh raw milk directly from farmers.
